◆Got and Old Cell Phone?

Future Sermon Topics

Oct. 29th: "A day in the life of an evil Spirit" - With Halloween approaching let's take the opportunity to learn a little more about what life in hell is really like. I know, not a fun topic! Maybe it'll scare the hell out of you!

Nov. 5th: "A day in the life of an Angel" - What would a normal day in heaven be like? I promise this will be more uplifting than the previous week!

A Word for the Week

A person has two areas of mind, one being the natural mind and the other the rational mind. The natural mind is that of the external man, whereas the rational mind is that of the internal man. What belongs to the natural mind is called factual knowledge, but what belongs to the rational mind is called reason and understanding. The two are also distinguished from each other by the fact that what belongs to the natural mind depends for the most part on the light of the world, a light which is called the inferior light of nature; but what belongs to the rational mind depends on the light of heaven, a light which is called spiritual light. Have a blessed week!
