Announcements:

Ride Share: There are several people that we know who are not able to transport themselves anymore. And we would like to create a system whereby these people can get rides to church related functions. The plan is to have a pool of willing drivers whom we can call upon when a request is made. If you are willing to be a driver please let the pastor know. Thanks!

Book Group will be meeting on the fourth Friday each month at 7pm. The group will be meeting at the home of Lucy Childs. Please let us know if you would like a ride.

A Word for the Week:

It is well known that habits form a kind of second nature, and therefore what is easy for one person is difficult for another. This applies also to examining ourselves and confessing what we have found. It is easy for manual laborers, porters, and farm workers to work with their arms from morning till evening, but a delicate person of the nobility cannot do the same work for half an hour without fatigue and sweating. It is easy for a forerunner with a walking stick and comfortable shoes to ply the road for miles, whereas someone used to riding in a carriage has difficulty jogging slowly from one street to the next. [2] All artisans who are devoted to their craft pursue it easily and willingly, and when they are away from it they long to get back to it; but it is almost impossible to force a lazy person with the same skills to practice that craft. The same goes for everyone who has some occupation or pursuit. What is easier for someone who is pursuing religious devotion than praying to God? And what is more difficult for someone who is enslaved to ungodliness? All priests are afraid the first time they preach before royalty. But after they get used to it, they go on boldly. What is easier for angelic people than lifting their eyes up to heaven? What is easier for devilish people than casting their eyes down to hell? (If they are hypocrites, however, they can look toward heaven in a similar way, but with aversion of heart.) We are all saturated with the goal we have in mind and the habits that result from it.
